OLD LANDMARK BURNED

Fire Destroys Old Jail Building and Two Stables.

About 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning while Ira M. Long, proprietor of the Keystone Marble and Granite Works of this place, was making some repairs to his automobile on the ground floor of the stable in the rear of the old jail building, where his office and works were located, a lighted straw dropped by his side from the hay mow.

Mr. Long hastily climbed the ladder leading to the loft and discovered the straw therein ablaze. He immediately gave an alarm and in a short time three streams of water were playing upon the flames.

The fire spread to the stable and shed of Captain A. I. Lyon, and while the firemen were giving their attention to these buildings, the roof of the old jail building took fire. Some years ago a new iron roof was placed over the old shingle one, making it impossible for the firemen to get to the flames until they tore off the iron roof. The fire burned from the edge of the roof up to the wooden cupola, which soon was in flames.

The fire laddies mounted the roof and for some time it was a battle royal between them and the fire monster, the boys eventually winning out, but not until the room was damaged beyond repair.

The building, which is a two-story brick structure, was erected in 1836 by Contractor Abraham Kerns for the sum of $7,940. It was used continuously as a jail until 1895, when the large new jail was built. It has been occupied by Ira M. Long as a marble works, County Superintendent L. H. Hinkle's office and by Charles Lesh as a dwelling.

The contents of the building, with the exception of some marble and granite, were removed by friends. A number of vehicles, farm implements and some chickens were consumed in connection with Mr. Lyon's stables.

The buildings and contents were insured. It is thought that the fire originated from some one sleeping in the hay mow.

During the progress of the fire Raymond Burke, a member of the fire department, received a cut on the head that required several stitches to close it. He was working on the roof of the old jail building, when in some manner, those in charge of the hose lost control of them, the nozzle striking Mr. Burke on the head.

Tuesday Evening, May 4th—Constitution and By-Laws Adopted—Reports of Committees.

Minutes of meeting of April 20th read and approved.

Report of Finance Committee received.

Membership Committee reported over 50 who have signed up to become members.

Committee on organization submitted Constitution and By-Laws, which were adopted.

The Civic Bureau reported progress and plans. On motion, duly seconded, and with the consent of members of the Borough Council present, it was resolved that Thursday and Friday, the 13th and 14th of May, be selected as the days for a clean-up of the streets, alleys and dump piles of Bedford.

The Civic Bureau reports that Council has appointed a committee to select a site for purchase or lease, for a public dumping ground for Bedford refuse.

Civic Bureau also reports that negotiations are pending for the purchase of a tank car of oil for use on Bedford streets after the clean up.

An open discussion brought out only favorable comment on this proposition, though no resolution was offered.

Publicity Bureau reports ways and means of getting in touch with the country, and specifically recommends that the county be blocked off into districts and that the business men take automobile trips into the several sections to become acquainted with our country friends and to carry on the publicity work for Bedford.

The Entertainment Committee submitted the following written report: The business men have already established a hitching place with 75 stalls for teams. It has not been cleaned, and should be put in order at once.

We recommend that this organization appoint a committee to confer with the business men who established the hitching place to work out a plan for keeping the place in good order.

The Union Hotel, Smith's Restaurant and the Steckman House have signified willingness to have their parlors and lavatories used by the country women and children on Saturdays.

The Young Men's Association passed a resolution throwing open its rooms and the toilet in connection therewith, to country visitors on Saturdays. We recommend that this fact also be advertised.

We recommend that this offer be taken advantage of and the facts advertised through the country districts.

The Bedford Band has been asked to put a price on Saturday concerts, to last one hour, and report is expected this evening. If the price is reasonable we ask that those Bedford business men who employ members of the band release them for the time required on Saturday afternoons for the actual concert; and that, if the price permits, we have band concerts on Saturdays.

George H. Mosser, manager of the Altoona Chamber of Commerce, has offered to deliver an address to our business men and our country friends on the value of Altoona as an outlet for our perishable products.

The Altoona Chamber of Commerce is the liveliest one in the State; its plans and methods are being largely copied by the reorganized Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia.

On motion, duly seconded, it was resolved that an invitation be extended to George H. Mosser, manager of the Altoona Chamber of Commerce, to come to Bedford and give a talk to the Business Men's Association and that an invitation be extended to our country friends to be present at this meeting.

One sister and one brother are living: Mrs. Emmaline Wertz, of Pittsburgh, and George Philson, of Tipton, Ia. Mrs. Boor was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

GOOD ROADS DAY

May 26 to Be a Red Letter Event in Road Making.

The Bedford County Association of Township Supervisors passed a resolution at their annual convention held in Bedford, March 22, advocating a State-wide "Good Roads Day," and requested Governor Brumbaugh to appoint May 26 for that purpose.

The Governor has acted in accordance with our resolution in this matter, and has proclaimed that May 26 shall be "Good Roads Day" in and for Pennsylvania. Its success is dependent upon the interest taken by the people and the enthusiasm created.

The purpose of "Good Roads Day" is to get every person to do some work on the roads on said day or contribute something toward getting others out on the job. To accomplish anything in this matter we must prove ourselves deeply interested in the movement and its purposes.

The Association is taking an active part in trying to make this a red letter event in road making, and will therefore urge all persons to give their support. Good roads are of great importance to everybody. So come out and work; not to please us but for your own benefit. Save your knicks for the high places in the road. Boost up the plan.

"Good Roads Day" gives every person who knows how to make road an excellent opportunity to explain his ideas, and put them into practice. Here is your chance, get busy. Interest your neighbor; he will interest others. Don't stay away because you hear of some other fellow that is not coming out. He'll come next year. We want a good report from every district in Bedford County.

Bedford and Bedford County Is It

We Are Going to Get on the Map

On last Tuesday evening at the Business Men's Association meeting H. C. Ostermann, Consul at Large of the Lincoln Highway, presented a scheme of advertising Bedford that will bring Bedford into the bright light of publicity not often accorded a town of this size. To further hear and report on the details of the plan a committee consisting of Burgess Oppenheimer, A. E. Egolf, Joseph J. Barclay, J. Schell Ridenour and V. E. Barkman was appointed by the president, Mr. Metzger, to meet with Mr. Ostermann Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Ostermann presented the committee with the proposition that for $150 the Lincoln Highway Association will display the scene of 125 beauty spots of Bedford and vicinity including 125 feet of Bedford streets on moving picture films. The scenes are to be selected by the committee appointed and photographs will be taken May 26, next.

The films are to be the property of the Lincoln Highway Association to be used by us locally for our people and to be used by the Association all along the line from New York to San Francisco. The first public display will be made in San Francisco. The payments are to be made as follows: 25% on signing of contract, 25% on date of making the film, 50% on date of completion of film and having it ready for display.

The committee signed the agreement and put the wheels rolling by which Bedford is to be one of the sixty-five (65) towns along the transcontinental route selected by the Highway Association to be featured.

Remember that Bedford was not consulted in this selection and that we were selected on our merits. Think of this prominence alone being given to Bedford and still further think that Bedford will be prominently proclaimed by photograph from the Atlantic to the Pacific. We are to be put on the map now and all the people of Bedford County ought to help make Bedford show itself well. It is likely that the Narrows, Springs Lookout and other prominent places will be featured.

In ample time notice will be given of the arrival of Mr. Ostermann, the last of this month at which time we want all the display possible of flag hunting, street decorations as you can.

An Easy Way to End Catarrh Forever

Simple Home Treatment Destroys Germs of This Dangerous Disease.

The air is always full of catarrh germs thrown on by one person and absorbed by another and when your system fails to throw off such germs they find permanent lodgment in the nose, throat and head and multiply rapidly. You must kill these germs before you can cure catarrh. The germs of catarrh can be best destroyed by inhaling the pure medicated air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei). This splendid and powerful combination of oil of Eucalyptus with other healing agents has a wonderful germicidal action. You breathe its air into your nose, throat and lungs by means of a small hard rubber inhaler which F. W. Jordan, Jr., and other leading druggists here in Bedford and vicinity supply with every treatment. This medicated air is certain death to the germs of Catarrh and drives them completely out of your system and when the germs are destroyed the catarrh with all its disagreeable symptoms will stop. As Hyomei is pleasant to breathe and is always sold by druggists everywhere with a positive guarantee of successful results or money back, surely no Catarrhal sufferer should go long before trying this simple home remedy. 30Apr21

Handling a Cover Crop

"See that the vegetable matter is thoroughly incorporated with the soil" is the advice of department specialists to those who have used green cover crops and wish to handle their land for the succeeding crop in the most desirable manner. If the farmer is to expect good results from his cover crop, he must not act in a hurry and neglect this important part of the work. The disk and smoothing harrow should be used until the soil is well pulverized and the vegetable matter mixed throughout the soil. Those who wish suggestions about fertilizer ingredients to use on this soil may obtain them by writing the office at Washington, D. C.

KIDNEY TROUBLE CAUSES INTENSE SUFFERING

Sixteen years ago I was taken sick with kidney trouble and suffered terribly for three months. I did not work during this time and was mostly confined to the bed. After using other remedies I finally tried a bottle of Swamp-Root. I immediately began to feel better, and after using seven fifty-cent bottles, was entirely cured and have had no kidney trouble since. I can truly say that I owe my good health to Swamp-Root. You may publish this letter for the benefit of other people afflicted as I was with the hope of bringing to their attention this most wonderful remedy.

Yours very truly,

Clergymen to Include Suffrage Plea in "Mother's" Day Sermons

Harrisburg, May 3.—Hundreds of clergymen in all parts of the State will include a plea for the political emancipation of women in their "Mother's Day" sermons next Sunday, May 9. This announcement was made at the State headquarters of the suffragists here today following the receipt of information from the various local chairmen, all of whom have been urging the clergymen in their communities to make a special "votes for mothers" plea in their sermons that day.

In Allegheny County more than 70 per cent of the clergymen thus appealed to have pledged themselves to grant the suffragists' request. Advice from other counties indicate a majority of the ministers and priests all over the State will also include the suffrage appeal in their next Sunday's sermons. All in all, close to a thousand sermons on the subject are expected to be preached.

The Farmer's Inning

The foreigners have begun to eat our corn. During the seven months ending January, 1914, we sent abroad 4,867,615 bushels of corn, value $3,636,697, and for a similar period ending January, 1915, 15,773,629 bushels, valued at $12,308,174. The foreigner likes our corn pretty nearly four times as well as he used to.

We have the largest pile of corn in the world, but much of it is going to travel abroad this season. And we are going to ourselves eat more of it than stays at home than ever before.

It is the good old American farmer's turn at bat and he is some fence-buster when he gets an inning.

"Conductor, can you tell me how that brakeman lost his finger?" asked the inquisitive woman. "He seems to be a very nice man. It is a pity he should be crippled."

"That's just it, mum. He is a good fellow. He is so obliging that he wore his finger off pointing out the scenery along the line."

Philadelphia Parade Big Stimulus to Equal Suffrage

Philadelphia, May 3.—The great suffrage parade held here last Saturday has increased interest in the cause more than 100 per cent. Quick to take advantage of it, the women following Dr. Anna Howard Shaw's advice and working harder than ever to win votes.

Mrs. George Piersol, chairman of the Philadelphia Woman Suffrage Party, today voiced the sentiment of the suffragists of the city when she said:

"We do not intend to lose any of the effect of the parade by wasting time talking about it. We are going to harness the tremendous tide of favorable sentiment which it created and use it to help us to victory in November."

Then she added with a smile: "Besides, we do not need to comment upon the parade. The newspapers have done all that was necessary."

The suffragists are justified in resting content upon the newspaper accounts of the parade. All of the papers characterized it as the biggest and most convincing demonstration in favor of suffrage in the history of the city. Some of the comments were:

Philadelphia Inquirer—"On to victory" was the slogan of their march, and under that banner the votes-for-women advocates rallied to their ranks and army of equal suffrage friends and supporters never numerically equalled or even approached in any previous demonstration for that cause in Philadelphia. As the fair seekers after franchise passed by, some on horses, others in automobiles, but many more than either of these stalking bravely along on foot, they were the recipients of applause, which, measured by its heartiness and frequency, seemed to augur well for November and imbued the equal suffragists with a new vim and an even greater confidence and courage.

Evening Ledger (editorial)—The Evening Ledger extends its heartiest congratulations to the women of Philadelphia and surrounding territory. The demonstration given by them this afternoon was magnificent. It won thousands of votes for the cause. It was admirably planned and efficiently carried out. Brilliance of color added to the beauty of the parade, but there was more to it than brilliancy or beauty. It answered conclusively the argument that women do not want the vote. It was an augury of success in November. Congratulations!

North American—"The parade was the most potent 'voiceless speech' the suffragists have ever delivered. It presented arguments from the old and the young, the married and the single, the woman of leisure, the professional woman and the working woman. It demonstrated the democracy of the suffrage movement."

Philadelphia Press—One could hear nearly everywhere congratulatory comments on the parade. That is where Dr. Anna Howard Shaw read right the faces of the sidewalk crowds. She couldn't have had a chance to talk to anyone, except those who paraded during the time she marched, but she certainly read in the faces as she passed the kindly way they felt.

Three of the biggest moving picture companies in the country had camera men at various points along the line of march. The pictures will be shown all over the country.

State President Will Drop Childhood Gift Into Suffrage Melting Pot

Harrisburg, May 3.—When the State suffragists install their big "melting pot" at headquarters here next Saturday, one of the first trinkets to be dropped in it will be a tiny gold ring set with emeralds.

The ring is one of the most treasured possessions of Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, and will be her personal contribution to the "melting pot," the contents of which are to be converted into cash later for the suffrage campaign fund.

Presented to her by her father on her tenth birthday, the ring holds childhood associations that are especially dear to the State president. Because of her personal interest in children, however, and her firm belief that the chief benefits of women suffrage will accrue to the children of the State, Mrs. Roessing has selected this little ring as the most appropriate personal offering she can make.

"I am just superstitious enough to believe that it will bring us luck," she said with a smile today. "It has been a sort of talisman to me ever since the day my father gave it to me. I want it to bring good fortune, too, to the children of Pennsylvania, especially to the little ones who are at work in factory or mill. I want woman suffrage to be voted in next November so that we women of the State will have more power to help give these children back their birthright—the right to play and develop into normal healthy citizens."

Practically every local suffragist in the State will make some contribution to the "melting pot" and when its contents are converted into cash next September it is expected that the campaign fund of the suffragists will be swelled materially.

Father and son went for a stroll one day. As they passed a vendor of ice cream the boy turned to his father and said lovingly:

"I wish you'd pay me some ice cream, fader; I do feel warm."

His father gazed at him for a few seconds in mild surprise, and then exclaimed:

"No, no, Ikey, my boy, but I'll tell you vot I'll do. I'll tell you some ghost stories vot'll make your blood run cold."

Governor Names May 26 Good Roads Day

His proclamation is as follows: "Whereas, All our citizens are personally interested in good roads and profit by their improvement and maintenance, and

"Whereas, The economic good of our people depends in a large measure upon the establishment of satisfactory means of access to the markets and market stations of the commonwealth; and

"Whereas, Many public-spirited citizens, commercial and civic bodies, together with the agricultural interests, the automobile associations, the newspapers and other agencies, have united in requesting that a Good Roads day be observed in all parts of the commonwealth;

"Therefore, I, Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor of this commonwealth, fully in sympathy with the purposes of such an observance, and anxious not only to stimulate a wider and more intelligent interest in the good roads movement, but determined to give the people at once as good highways as our available resources will permit, do, after due consideration, issue this proclamation:

"That each and every road supervisor of the townships of the commonwealth is in duty and good conscience obligated to give this project his cordial support and to call upon the men over whom he has control to do the same;

"That every able-bodied citizen having a patriotic regard for our commonwealth and its good name shall so arrange his personal affairs as to give an entire day to the improvement of our highways or contribute in current coin to the proper local authority a sum equivalent to the wages of a laborer upon the highways;

"That all citizens living in cities, boroughs and towns, especially those owning automobiles, betake themselves upon this good roads day to the country and volunteer their services for the day to the proper local authorities, thus manifesting their interest by good works in securing this splendid highways; and

"That this may be a memorable concurrent action of our people in a great state-wide service, to which the State Department of Highways will gladly give its cordial support and co-operative assistance, I hereby designate and set apart Wednesday, May 26, 1915, as Good Roads day in Pennsylvania."

A BIT OF ADVICE

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble—they are recommended by thousands. Can residents desire more convincing proof of merit than the statement of a citizen of this locality?

John Gress, Meyersdale, Pa., says: "About a year ago, I was troubled by my kidneys. My back ached and I was languid. I couldn't bend over in the morning, as my back felt so lame. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and I used them. I want to say that they are the best kidney medicine I ever took. I recommend them to my friends and keep them on hand all the time."

TRAINING NEW GERMAN ARMIES

The following is an extract from the pen of Hon. Albert J. Beveridge, former United States Senator from Indiana, clipped from the Review of Reviews. Mr. Beveridge has been in Germany and we have such absolute faith in his integrity, mental balance that we think the facts set forth are truthful to the extreme. Therefore, we present it as the truth for our readers and not material based on rumors of speculative editors or writers.

All over Germany fresh troops are in training. This has been going on for many months. Every possible detail of every possible experience at the front is gone over and over and over, time and time and time again. You may see every phase of a real battle, except, of course, the actual wounding and killing in the country adjoining any one of the innumerable training camps, scattered throughout the Empire; artillery action, trench fighting, advances in the open, cavalry work, scouting, management of supplies, both food and ammunition,—in short, every conceivable thing that can occur in active service. Excepting only casualties, one could take photographs of these practice fields and in these training camps, or one could write descriptions, and both photograph and description would faithfully portray scenes at and near the battle line, so exactly are conditions at the front reproduced.

The thoroughness of this training of the common soldier cannot be put too strongly or too often. When finally the recruit is allowed to go to the scene of action, he already is a seasoned soldier, except for the experience of hearing and feeling hostile lead and steel. For most of these men have had much physical and disciplinary education. Therefore in these camps at present, the theory of warfare is reduced to practice, the theory itself being carefully modified by actual experience in the present war. It is reasonably safe to say that the German soldier of 1915 will be a more efficient man than was his comrade who rallied to the colors last August. As to military training, it should be noticed that scholars like the great theologian Harnack, or the Socialist leader Suedekum, think it is so good a thing for developing health, strength, and efficiency, that the German people are more than repaid for this investment.

"Aside from the military phase,—if no army were needed and no war possible,—I should earnestly favor our system of military training, physically, mentally, and morally, as a vital part of our educational system," said Professor Harnack. If such a thing were possible, the instruction and drill of those preparing to be officers is far more careful and complete than the exacting and exhaustive military schooling given the common soldier. And these future officers are spared no hardship. They are toughened and seasoned quite as much as the men whom they soon are to command. You study with keen interest company after company for commissions. You are struck by the high intelligence of their faces; character and education is written on every feature. Their bearing is manly and soldierly. Germany's worst enemy could not fail to be impressed by the appearance of these men, even though he looked at them through the glasses of hatred.

Of the hundreds studied in one immense training camp in January, 1915, none looked younger than twenty or older than thirty. From their appearance and conduct they seemed to be prime soldier stock.

The training differs from that of peace times only in its continuity. It is intensive training upon soil well prepared. These things are stated only because they are facts, precisely as one might describe any fact, such as a tree, bridge, railway train, house field, hill.

No one but the military authorities knows the number of men now in training. Certainly it is very great. And waiting eagerly for their turn, are hundreds upon hundreds of thousands. To the casual and unskilled observer, ignorant of military things, there seems to be no end of men in Germany.

These men may or may not be fit war material,—you do not know, personally. But as to numbers, they at least seem to be myriads. By careful questioning in every quarter, and in different parts of Germany, during several weeks, and piecing together, weighing and testing information thus garnered, the conclusion seems justified that Germany expects to keep 5,000,000 men actively in the field, year in and year out, no matter how long the war lasts, and more than 5,000,000 cannot be used to advantage. By 5,000,000 is meant soldiers and officers as well trained as those called to the colors last August. All this, too, in the regular, ordinary course of events, without straining her human resources.

A preacher who was visiting a public school (on the East Side) noticed a little Hebrew boy in the class. Going up to him (patting him on the back), he said:

"My son, you are a smart little boy, and you have a bright future before you. From these schools Presidents have been made. Everyone has an equal chance—you have a chance."

The Hebrew boy replied: "Mister, I will sell you my chance for a quarter."

Estimate War Limit

Some of the war experts of the contending powers are giving out figures as to the losses of their foes in ten months and the size of reserves. From these they estimate just how long the war will last until the fighting force is exhausted. Some of them have fixed the time at ten months. That would mean at the end of ten months some of the powers will have reached the limit of human resources. Whether or not this estimate is wholly correct it cannot be doubted that decimation of the fighting force of these nations is proceeding with direful rapidity.

The Value of Today

While walking in the streets one is often greeted with the cheerful remarks: "It's a nice day." Good days and bad days exist only in the mind. The weather had nothing to do with it. Each day it what we make it.

Suppose you get the word that your salary has been doubled or that a forgotten uncle has left you $1,000,000. What do you care about the weather then? Or, suppose the person you love is dying. Unexpectedly a turn for the better comes. The doctor says your dear one will live. What if it is hotter than Tophet? It is a good day, a great day, a happy day. It is what we think and feel about it that makes each day what it is.

Put down in the notebook of your soul the poet Runeberg's thought, "Each day is a life." When you get up in the morning throw back your shoulders, take a deep breath and meet the new day like a man. Say to yourself: "Another day, another life." For all we know, it may be the only day we shall ever have. Let us make it the best day we can. Let us strive to make it a day worth while to move a step forward in our work, do all the good we can, get all the happiness we can today.

Right now is the only time you can control. Yesterday is a record. Today is yours and mine.

BULLETIN

Of the Pennsylvania State Brewers' Association.

"Digest of information from their Publicity and Educational Department, 717 Perry Building, Philadelphia, May 1915.

Humiliation of a Governor
Probably never, in the experience of a Chief Executive over the great State of Pennsylvania, has there been any Governor who placed himself in so sorry a position, and suffered such humiliation, as his Excellency, Martin G. Brumbaugh, in his abject failure to drive Assemblymen into obeying his dictum to pass a Local Option bill. To the contrary, the Lower House of the Legislature gave a severe slap at this Governor in defeating proposed county "option" by the overwhelming vote of 128 "against," to only 78 votes "for" such measure.

And the humiliation of Governor Brumbaugh is more pitiable because of its being largely self-imposed—the result of the gentleman being a novice in political life and in statesmanship. Mr. Brumbaugh, the Schoolmaster, with fair knowledge of book-ology, may have been fitted for the vocation he formerly occupied; but Mr. Brumbaugh, the Governor, calls for an equipment that he gives distressing evidence he does not possess.

During the period last fall that Mr. Brumbaugh was a candidate for the high office he now occupies, he flattered about and vacillated in vain efforts to harmonize himself with conflicting political forces. But after being installed as Chief Executive, he at once entered upon a dictatorial career that has simply made him appear ridiculous before the State's intelligent citizens. With imperialistic pomp and heroic posing he arrogated to himself the right to tell the Legislature what it must do in conformity to his will, particularly directed toward the passing of a Local Option measure, and that his personal pledge must be regarded by the legislators as pre-eminent over pledges that had been given by Representatives to constituencies that they would oppose "dry" legislation. That if the rebellious Assemblymen did not jump to the crack of the Governor's whip, then his imperialistic majesty would next year ride like a swashbuckler into each district of the non-conformists and work against their re-election. Ye gods, was ever a threat more terrifying!

Nor did Governor Brumbaugh stop in his mad course of presumably trying in this manner to assume entire control of Pennsylvania's affairs. For it has been alleged that in behalf of his efforts to coerce legislators into violating their honor and obligations to constituencies, there was brought to bear upon Representatives the influence and inducement of public patronage. Even speakers at the convention of the Federation of Motor Clubs, at Reading two weeks ago, openly alleged that there had been promises of offices and other valuable considerations to entice votes for Local Option. It is the hope of all good citizens, however, that no one did presume to represent Governor Brumbaugh to the extent of resorting to bribery. Because if that were true, as bruited about, then the Chief Executive of this Commonwealth might become directly or indirectly involved, and be made amenable to trial for impeachment and possible removal from his high office, just as was done to Governor Sulzer of New York, some three years ago, when he was ousted from the Governor's chair in that State.

Governor Brumbaugh further humiliated himself, according to daily press reports of his utterances, when day after day he was alleged to have given assurances that his leadership for Local Option was going to win. The Governor thereby placed himself in one of two embarrassing horns of a dilemma that now look askance at him—either that he was, prior to the vote taken upon Local Option, ignorant of Assemblymen's real state of mind upon this issue, or that he was foolishly sending forth bulletins to keep up the courage and mislead his following of prohibitionists. Withal, the humiliation of Martin G. Brumbaugh, in his recent Local Option turn-down before the Lower House of the State Legislature, was most complete, and possibly this experience of right-minded legislators that took part in the tempering of a lamb shorn in politics may have a salutary effect upon the high official that has proven himself so much in need of the lesson. Meantime, all honor to this State's Assemblymen who had the courage and high principle to uphold their integrity against the encroachments and demand of a gubernatorial despot, and in sustaining the "voice of the people" in Representative Government. The proposed Local Option measure was only intended to pave the way to Prohibition, and it is not justifiable "option" of any body of citizens to interfere with the inherent constitutional right of every man to eat, drink and wear whatever he chooses, so long as he does not injure his neighbor; and that inherent right no legislative body ought to have the power to take from him.

We are for Governor Brumbaugh in his manly fight for Local Option but the feature of the campaign that we cannot understand is why Dr. Brumbaugh allowed himself to be tied up to a gang such as he found himself hitched with on last Wednesday two weeks, and why did the liquor interests, typified in Penroseism, seek his nomination and election? Where is the snake in the grass?

Prevention of Moth Damage

The various substances used to keep away moths, such as tobacco, camphor, naphthalene cones or balls, tarred paper, and cedar chips, have no effect if the eggs are already present in the clothes. Entomologists in the department therefore recommend a thorough beating, shaking, and brushing of all articles likely to attract moths before they are laid away for the summer. The brushing of garments is especially important in order to remove eggs which may have escaped notice. If the articles are quite free from eggs or larvae when laid away, the odor from the various repellants already mentioned or from cedar chests and wardrobes will serve to keep the moths away. This odor, however, lessens with age, so that the protection it affords is greatly decreased after a few years. For this reason when furs and other valuable garments are wrapped in tarred paper these containers should be removed every year or two.

For any itching skin trouble, piles, eczema, salt rheum, hives, itch, scald head, herpes, scabies, Doan's Ointment is highly recommended. 50c a box at all stores.—Adv.

HINTS TO VACATIONISTS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

Nature's siren song is calling the city dweller. It lures to mountain, meadow, lake or camp. The call is universal and all who are free hasten to answer.

In selecting a place for a summer home or a brief vacation it is well to observe a few basic precautions and so avoid incurring illness which may result seriously.

There are thousands of resorts, cottages and camps where the defects in sanitation present a genuine menace. Certain things should be carefully observed.

The water supply.

The disposal of sewage and garbage.

The milk supply, particularly if there are infants or young children.

If the water supply comes from a well, be sure that it is not located where it will receive underground or surface drainage from a barnyard or outhouse. It is essential to boil water taken from surface streams. Clearness is no guarantee of purity.

If springs are the source of supply, care should be taken that they are not surrounded by habitations or other sources of pollution. In small villages or shore places if the water supplies are public, diligent inquiry should be made as to whether the source is free from sewage contamination. If the disposal of sewage and garbage is careless, flies are certain to breed, and unless kitchens and dining rooms are carefully screened there is the possibility of typhoid or diarrheal infection from this source.

With young children, particularly infants, the question of a clean milk supply is one of vital importance. Fresh milk is of little or no advantage unless it be clean milk.

Mosquitoes also may prove a pestiferous nuisance. There is the possibility of malarial infection in regions where they abound.

Failure to give attention to these essential points of sanitation may result in poignant regrets instead of delightful holiday memories.

There Is No Question but that indigestion and the distressed feeling which always goes with it can be promptly relieved by taking a

Agricultural Trade With South America

Even in our South American trade, of which we hear a great deal, we are exporting more farm and forest products to that continent than we import. Much has been said about the importation of Argentine corn and Argentine beef. It is worth while to understand the exact situation. The total corn crop of Argentina is about 195,000,000 bushels. In 1912 the United States produced over 3,100,000,000 bushels, and in 1913 two and a half billion bushels. The shortage in the crop of 1913 as compared with that of 1912 was over 600,000,000 bushels. The total corn crop of Argentina was less than one-third of this shortage. A very small fraction of this total reaches the United States. The European markets are strong competitors for all agricultural products from South America, and receive the greater part of that continent's surplus.

The importation of corn from all countries, including Argentina, for the year ending October 31, 1914, was 16,000,000 bushels, or seven-tenths of one per cent. of the domestic crop. During this same period the United States exported 11,000,000 bushels. The excess of imports, therefore, was 5,000,000 bushels, or

Souring and Cover Crops

Never turn the clover or other crop under without first thoroughly cutting up with a disk harrow, as the material plowed under in a layer seriously interferes with the capillary action of the moisture in the soil. The effects of turning under in a layer are what is sometimes called souring the soil with green manuring crops. Double disk the cover crop two or three times with a sharp disk harrow before plowing; plow well by taking a narrow furrow; then double disk the land again rather deeply, and no injurious effect will result however large the growth may be.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1915.

WHO CAN WIN OVER WILSON?

The Republicans are sauntering about to find a man who can win over Wilson. Penrose, Whitman, Cummins, Weeks, Barnes and a host of others have been suggested but the mere suggestion was all there was to it. No one suggested suits all concerned. It is a certain fact that the Progressives will have a ticket along with the Republicans and Democrats in 1916 and that they will have a ticket in the field in each county of this State this fall. They have an object in view and a civic duty which they started out to perform and they mean to perform that function until they have renovated the whole body politic known to graft, plunder and to stultify and harass manhood and womanhood.

SOCIETY'S SINS

In view of the revelations being made as to the ravages of the drug habit it seems strange that the truth was not shown sooner. It is strange indeed that while the demon rum has come in for such assaults these long years that those enlisted for the cause of humanity had not discovered a secret foe that was working even greater destruction and getting a firmer grip on its victims. It has required a law putting restrictions on the drug traffic to bring to light thousands of sufferers who are flocking to hospitals all over the land crying out to be saved from the consequences of an acquired craving which no longer can be satisfied. A more pitiable spectacle has rarely been witnessed than that brought to light within the past few days through the operation of the national anti-opium act. It serves to show how some of the habits of society apace without being fully suspected and those which grow in the shadow may be worse than those brought to light.

So far as known no political party has ever been founded with war on the drug habit as its slogan and no organizations have been formed or detectives employed in most communities to ferret out and punish those guilty of dealing in the deadly commodity but, judging by results now brought to light, such a movement might well have been begun simultaneously with that against drink, if not in advance of it. The truth is that when it comes to stopping all the bad habits of society it involves a pretty hard task.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH IN THE COLLEGES

Is there a growing opposition to freedom of speech in the colleges? The latest incident in that direction occurred when Dr. Kuno Meyer of the University of Berlin protested against the recent Harvard Advocate prize poem, "Gott mit uns" and expressed the hope that no more Germans would take exchange professorships at Harvard. This incident was matched last fall when an English graduate of Harvard threatened to deny the college a promised bequest, if it did not cease harboring Prof. Munsterberg, a leading German professor.

Incidents like these are not confined to episodes growing out of the war. There are many people who would like to see college teaching standardized, measured out into certain prescribed chunks. Many colleges could get the new buildings and bonded endowments they want by agreeing to sell the kind of political or religious training that a certain market demands.

With growing refinement and education, there should be growing tolerance. Actually growing refinement often means growing sensitiveness and irritation at antagonistic opinions.

There are limits to the extravagances that can be permitted within a college campus. But if the brainy professor puts some immature notions into a boy's head, some other teacher with equal wit and more sanity will knock them out. The trouble with the standardized teaching is that it imparts no ideas, good or bad, to be knocked out, and the boy gets no mental enlargement.

So let pro-Germans, anti-Germans, Socialists, Aristocrats, Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists,

Personal liberty men, all have their innings. The boy must some day grapple with these and many more. Let him try his casuistry at a time when there are men of insight at hand to correct errors of extremists.

Equal Suffrage Meetings

The coming week will be an eventful one for the cause of Equal Suffrage in the county. All ministers have been asked to make some mention of the subject in the sermons they deliver on Mother's Day. During the week Mrs. E. E. Kiernan of Somerset, chairman of the eight divisions of the Woman's Suffrage Party in which Bedford is included, and one of the most effective and popular speakers of the State organization, will address the following meetings: Tuesday, May 11, Hope-well M. E. Church, 8 p. m.; Wednesday, May 12, Saxton Presbyterian Church, 2:30 p. m.; same day, Defiance School Auditorium, 8 p. m.; Thursday, May 13, Everett, open air meeting, 8 p. m.; Friday, May 14, Rainsburg M. E. Church, 8 p. m.

A conference of Woman's Suffrage Party workers will be held in the L. T. L. rooms in Bedford on Friday, May 14. The program for this conference was published in last week's issue. All interested in the work are cordially invited to attend. Your presence will be especially appreciated if you come from any section of the county which our workers have not reached and where we want very much to find our friends.

Last week Miss Edith Stuckey, county chairman of the party, visited the most important towns in the Broad Top section in the interest of the work. Among the large number of people interviewed, including W. C. T. U. workers, ministers and prominent men and women, she reports a great amount of favorable sentiment and surprisingly little indifference and indecision, when the fact that absolutely no party work has been done previously in this section.

In default of $500 bail apiece, they were committed to jail and were turned over to the United States marshal who took them to Allegheny County, where they will be tried this week.

MINUTES OF MEETING

On motion, duly seconded it was resolved similarly that F. Blair Isenberg of Huntingdon be asked to deliver an address and that invitation be extended to our country friends to be present at that time also.

The chairman of the Entertainment Committee was instructed informally to take up and prepare plans for a Bedford Bargain Day and for a Bedford Auction Day; and to negotiate with the band for band concerts, reporting on his doings at the next regular meeting of this Association.

Bureau of Roads

The Bureau of Roads reported in writing as follows:

We report that the first project considered by this Bureau is the regrading of the road to Friend's Cove, to get rid of the bad grades and make the road an attractive inlet to Bedford.

A request has been put in to the Grange to appoint a committee to co-operate with the Business Men's Association; and a number of individuals have been interested, who agree to co-operate with us in agitating this matter and bringing about the building of a better road.

The Publicity Bureau has suggested that an automobile trip be made into Friend's Cove in the near future, with stops at Charlesville, Rainsburg and other places, at which time we take along with us matter advertising Bedford and also petitions for signature of the farmers in an effort to get this road matter quickly under way.

We recommend that the trip be taken, that committees be arranged for to co-operate with our committee; that our own committee get in touch, at an early date, with the supervisors of Snake Spring Township; and that this road project be hastened in every way possible.

A plan is under way to construct some miles of road in Bedford Township, using a 22 horse power engine, a Giant Gallon Road Scraper, a light-galton scraper and a rooster; and to make this road work not merely a public affair, but to ask all who attend to bring pencil and paper and figure the actual cost of shaping up road under this new system.

The Bedford Township supervisors have signified consent to doing this work. Huntingdon business men are considering the giving of a special excursion on the H. & B. T. R., and Blair County men on the Bedford Division, so as to make this a Three Counties Road Day. If this can be arranged for it is hoped that we can secure the attendance of the Governor and the State Highway Commissioner for the actual road making; and have them give talks on roads after supper.

We recommend that the Association proceed along with this work and, if possible, arrange for this demonstration, believing that it will strongly advertise Bedford and Bedford County.

The chairman of this bureau also reported that he had been in conference with some of the supervisors of Snake Spring Township and others on the project of the road into Friend's Cove.

Howard Cessna of Rainsburg favored the meeting with some pertinent remarks on the road matter, developing the fact that our present plans may not work in view of the fact that the parts of the road to Friend's Cove requiring fixing have been taken over by the State Highway Department, and the entire project apparently blocked by reason of that fact.

On motion it was resolved that the Secretary, without expense to the Association, go to Harrisburg and investigate and report on the legal situation and the best course to pursue to bring about promptly the elimination of the grades and putting the road into such shape as will permit economic hauling.

Mr. Ostermann of the Lincoln Highway Department then favored us with an address and laid before the meeting a project for advertising Bedford by views to become a part of a moving picture exhibit for exhibition at the Panama Exposition; the film to be loaned to Bedford later for exhibit here. The proposition put by Mr. Ostermann required the raising of $150 in Bedford. On motion a paper was prepared and circulated, and over $100 raised by subscription in this meeting.

On motion, duly seconded, it was resolved that the President of this Association appoint a committee of five, of which Simon Oppenheimer, Chief Burgess, should be chairman, to confer with Mr. Ostermann and to sign whatever contract is necessary and that the name and credit of this Association be pledged for the raising of the $150, in order that the plan go through.

Fred S. Sammel gave a talk on ways and means of interesting the country people on our plans.

Howard Cessna again spoke to the meeting, expressing high appreciation of the purposes and plans shown in the meeting, and promising united support from the country. In the course of his remarks Mr. Cessna referred to two matters, of which the Secretary has taken the liberty to make special note as affecting the business interests of the farmers, and therefore our own business interests: viz: the fact that the demand of today is for a heavier type of horses than are being raised, and the fact that our Association might well spread this fact. And of the potential value of an Association for the registration of thoroughbred and grade stock of all sorts, as tending to widen both local and outside market opportunities for our stock.

The Marketing Committee reported general plans for co-operation with the country districts in standardizing products and finding outlets for them at better prices; and of the value to Bedford of the proposed canneries and warehouse because it will mean more money for the farmer for his products.

On motion it was resolved that we extend to our country visitors our cordial appreciation of their presence, and a wish that they attend future meetings and express themselves frankly, so that we may co-operate with them in what concerns their interests.

The President appointed as the committee to confer with Mr. Ostermann of the Lincoln Highway Department, Simon Oppenheimer, V. E. F. Barkman, J. Seibel Ridenour, A. B. Egoif and Joseph J. Barclay.

On motion adjournment was taken to Tuesday, May 18th.

Paint?

There are two good reasons for painting often-enough or even too-often. One, to look prosperous; two, to be so.

Nothing does one more credit or gives one more credit than paint, supplemented of course by what goes with it; and paint costs nothing.

True, the first cost is $5 or $6 a gallon put-on; but it saves more than that in the property; saves it from slow going-down—not always slow—it drops with a jump when water gets in on wood and iron.

Dry wood and iron cost nothing, kept dry by paint.

Better paint when it needs it. Paint never goes-down in the sense of being more profitable next year.

Good Roads Meeting

Some interested citizens of Bedford County have decided to call, and do hereby call a public meeting to be held at the Court House in Bedford Borough on Tuesday, May 18, next, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of forming a "Good Roads Association of Bedford County," such as exists in most counties of this State. It is earnestly desired that business men, farmers, professional men and those in all walks of life attend this meeting. This is your meeting and for your benefit and everyone is asked to come and take an active part in the forming of this organization. Let the Grange, business associations and all organizations urge attendance at this meeting. Let the farmers come from every township in the county and become part of the working force which will be required in every section of the county. Come by railway, come in wagons, come in automobiles, and make this organization a success from the start. Further information will be given by the papers of the county in next week's issues.

An Appreciation

Chester G. Culp has been appointed to a clerkship in the newly organized Bedford County Trust Company. Mr. Culp is a graduate of Juniata College, Huntingdon, having taken a business and stenographic course there. Since his graduation he has been employed by the United States Department of Agriculture, as Assistant to A. B. Ross, first at Schellsburg and later at Bedford.

Mr. Ross says it will be very hard to find a successor for Mr. Culp, but feels, as do all Mr. Culp's friends, that the opportunities connected with the new position are such that Mr. Culp is wise in making the change.

The selection of Mr. Culp from the very large list of applicants is a strong tribute to his sterling qualities.

The child playfully placed her fingers before the lawn mower in motion, and while so doing the fingers were caught. Immediate aid was rendered by Drs. Henry and Hill, who reunited one finger while the other being completely severed made circulation impossible to affect a union.

Wilmer Young, who for years has been a resident of Tatesville until the first of April when with his wife and one little daughter moved to Riddlesburg, while working in his mine Saturday morning in the vicinity of Riddlesburg, some timbers that had been in use for the operation of the mine were being removed when by accident a portion of them fell on Mr. Young catching and holding him beneath their weight. Mr. Young was hastened to the Blair Memorial Hospital, Huntingdon, where he is experiencing much suffering.

On last Sunday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock the Y. M. C. A. had the privilege to listen to an excellent lecture from the tongue of Rev. Bishara of Bedford on the subject, "Finding One's Self and One's Brother." The outline of the lecture was about as follows: To find one's self is to be conscious of your ability, "know thyself." After that you may seek out a line of self development. This line must be for a worthy cause, not debased. Develop the prophetic spirit. Must be ready to do one's part in any worthy cause. To find one's brother is worked out through service, which is the test of greatness. Before Christ, test of greatness was master of how many servants. After Christ, test was servant of how many. Greatest man in world is greatest servant in world. Moses found himself and found his brother, that was test of lifetime. He forsook the grandeur of Egypt and luxuries of life of palace to serve his brother, thus becoming the greatest man in ancient history. If God has made you a man it is your duty to put a man's weight behind the name.
The home of Mrs. Mabel Gump on Spring Street was the scene of a beautiful morning wedding May 3. All right, Frank, we'll see you when you come back. The bride—a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Williams of West Providence (both deceased), is a very popular seamstress in Everett, and the groom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hershberger, is indeed and in truth a hustler.

The most popular air in Everett is "Ho! Ho! Vacation days are here; Tra la, tra la, tra la."

Grange Notes
Interest is becoming more manifest as time goes on toward the Memorial Day service undertaken by Bedford Grange. At the meeting of committees in the hall Saturday evening, all the Sabbath Schools were not represented, but have sent in reports since and are all in hearty co-operation to make this the greatest occasion of its kind ever witnessed in our community.

The Grange, not being a denominational organization, is peculiarly in position to invite all others to join in a union celebration of this day, and as long as the present Lecturer occupies his place, he has given public assurance, that he will do all in his power to bring different sections of our community, and the different religious denominations, together in a closer acquaintance and better fellowship.

Sectional and denominational selfishness is the bane and greatest hindrance to Christian progress in any community or church. In making the statement today to a lady, she remarked that said lecturer's "locks will be grayer and the top of your head baldier than it is now till you get that done." Then a man expressed just the opposite notion; he said: "Why that won't be hard to do."

We agree with the woman, because we know humanity too well, but it can be done. If all who take the church vows lived what they promised, this task would never have been necessary.

The program committees are enthusiastic in their work, and enthusiasm is contagious generally. So promising you all something good, we will report further next week.

because it's got the right stuff in it.

Satisfaction—for a sturdy man—can come from real tobacco only. Insipid mixtures don't appeal to a man with real tobacco hunger.

FIVE BROTHERS is pure Southern Kentucky leaf, with the "body" for a real smoke or chew, rich and pleasing. It takes three to five years to age the tobacco in FIVE BROTHERS; the process can't be hurried. That's the reason FIVE BROTHERS is so ripe, mellow and healthful.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Town Promotion

The first thing to make a town grow, is to get the townspeople to work to spread the good reputation of the town, as a business and residence center. This is fundamental, but it takes time to bring about results which come so largely through mental attitude. Meanwhile towns that are ambitious for speedy advancement usually get out and hustle for new manufacturing industries.

It is the feeling of men with experience in board of trade work, that almost any town having reasonably good transportation facilities can get new industries, if it is willing to work for them. But many efforts of this kind are all judged.

Factories frequently move out into country towns to get cheap labor. If they do not require highly skilled help, the results may be good. If they do need skilled work people, the experiment is dubious. If a concern is not adapted to the locality and has to move on, it hurts the reputation of the town as a business center. The place is worse off than it was before the industry came.

Boards of trade commonly subscribe to press clipping bureaus, giving news of concerns that contemplate expansion. They follow lists of incorporation of new companies, and they send letters and circulars to all such openings. They find plenty of companies that would like a new location, but many of them are mere tramps that stay only while they get favors.

A concern that is substantial and means business will usually pay its own way. If it wants a factor, it should either pay a moderate rental, or pay installments on the value of the building so as to acquire it in time.

If a committee of business men will make a systematic effort to find industries worth securing, the thing can usually be done. Hundreds of letters may have to be written, to all kinds of possible chances, before one reply is received worth considering. But clerk hire is not costly, and persistence wins out in the end.

New industries might come here if our business men had the perseverance to follow up the matter to a conclusion. Too often, after circulars are sent out and a few letters written, a committee becomes discouraged and allows the matter to drift. In that case, the town that hangs on after others become disheartened is the one that gets the new business.

ELBERT BEDE SAYS

Self-made men are most of them a little bit rough. Money that is "cleaned up" is quite often the most filthy. The man in jail has been found out—that's the reason he's in. An anomaly: The slower you go the more time you have to live. A widow's weeds grow after the flower of her heart fades away.

Falling in love may be a fool thing to do—but fools have got to do something.

It's funny how getting married brings a man to his senses—but it's too late to use them.

Calling woman man's better half is an acknowledgment that it takes a woman to make a man.

There is nothing more embarrassing for the moment than to tell a good story and not have it take for a few seconds.

We talk a great deal about practicing what we preach—it's well that we don't talk as much about preaching what we practice.

If you know anything mean about a woman's husband it would not be wise to tell it to her—besides it would not be telling her anything.

A man who says little is quite often given a reputation for wisdom—but that is probably because he says little to expose his ignorance.

Before marriage a girl imagines a man is a wonderful thing. Afterwards she admits he is or he couldn't have fooled her the way he did.

It quite often follows that the boy who only goes to Sunday School because he has to is compelled later in life to go to some other place he doesn't want to.

A specialist gave up as hopeless a case being treated for blindness and presented his bill. That opened the patient's eyes, but he hasn't "seen" the specialist yet.

Many a young man who has hiked away from the farm has had reason to be glad that dad hung onto the old place and put away enough to feed another mouth during the winter.

There are other wise people—and otherwise.

Summer engagements are for about a six-weeks' stand.

It seems funny that there is often more sense in a small head than in a large one.

The people would rule if they gave the matter as much attention as those who do rule.

If some folks were not pretty easily satisfied what a lot of disappointed people there would be.

With all the other expenses it's too bad that the man has to buy new hats for himself when the baby arrives.

You can judge pretty accurately of a girl's opinion of herself by the amount of time she spends before the mirror.

When a man asks you for advice he has greater confidence in you than to think you will advise him to use his own judgment.

If you can look a man in the eye without flinching you have practically convinced him of the truth of what you are about to say.

There's one thing about music on a graphophone—you can shut it off any time you want to without hurting the feelings of the performers.

Young man, be careful of your associates. We know young men who didn't follow this advice who are now supporting a wife and six children.

When you see your daughter growing up in the image of her mother, you think of the way some smart young man is going to get the same thing you did.

When a man gets up with an enlarged cranium, a thick tongue, sick stomach and aching eyes, we fail to see how he can interpret the doings of the night before as a good time.

As a man grows older he often wishes to be young again just to show some of the girls how he wouldn't fall in love with them—and he thinks of what a disappointment it would be to the girls.

Isn't it just too exasperating for anything to anxiously await the arrival of hubby home from work to tell him something heard at the club, and have him say, "Oh, I heard that a couple weeks ago?"

Meat Prices This Spring

Meat dealers in some places are complaining that prices are higher now than they were through the winter and are predicting still higher figures. Wholesale dealers deny any considerable recent advance. But cattle are scarce, and the probable continuance of the war threatens the steady rise of all food products. There is no news in high meat prices, but the problem still worries the housekeeper and the bill payer.

Government reports have much to say about buying cheaper cuts of meat. Many housekeepers say they try to do this, but the markets don't have these cheaper cuts. They may be snapped up as quickly as they come in by thrifty women with market baskets. Or else there is no general demand for them.

Almost any butcher's shop can build up a trade in this line by advertising. There are many people who depend on the butcher's bargain counter. Recent immigrants learned these thrifty ways in their own country, where juicy steak and roast, common places on the American table, were unheard of luxuries.

There is a phrase that "the best is the cheapest." The textile fabric that costs twice as much may wear three times as long. Many people seem to think the idea applies equally to meat. Then openly boast that they never buy any but the best cuts. But meat and textiles are different.

The oldtimers used to know the value of many of the less costly cuts. They would boil and stew patiently, carefully preserving juices and flavors. This is too painstaking for the modern American family, which prefers the hasty cooking of the grill room. But the higher cost material, prepared by an ill trained servant, is often less appetizing than the homely stew pot of the immigrant wife, who has seasoned her humble meal with kitchen lore of old tradition.

When People Ask Us

what is good for nerves and lost weight, we always recommend

Rexall's Olive Oil Emulsion

containing Hypophosphites a food tonic and tissue builder.
